

FAQ – Email Database

This year, Council has resolved to make some changes to how the National Office will communicate with all Lions Clubs. It has been decided that the National Office will use email and an email database as the main form of communicating with clubs. The reason for this decision is that it is a quick, easy and timely manner to communicate with clubs and can be easily passed on to Club members.

Information of importance will be sent out no more than once a month from the National Office in the form of a newsletter.

The National Office will also supply the Email Database for all Lions Clubs to any Category A and B Project operators. The Category A and B Projects operators will be authorised to use the Email Database to inform and advertise to the Lions Clubs about these projects only.

Should any club wish to not receive email communication from the operators of a Category B Project, the Lions Club can notify the operators of that project that they wish to opt-out of the email database. This will be reflected in the emails sent by the operators of that project only, and will not affect the emails sent from the National Office or the operators of any other Category A or B Project.
